ABSTRACT

To make it possible to transmit many messages without seriously affecting video information which essentially has to be transmitted, messages are registered in a DMT, and indexes to the messages are registered in an rDMT. The rDMT is transmitted by every transponder, while the DMT is transmitted by a single predetermined transponder.